Guiding Questions

1. What are the intellectual origins of the terms “gender identity” and “gender expression”?

2. How did the terms surface in legal discourse?

3. In view of their historical lineage, what are the implications for contemporary human rights law?
   - Trans and/or non-binary claimants?
   - Cisgender claimants?
Defining “gender identity” (l’identité de genre) and “gender expression” (l’expression de genre)

“Gender identity is each person’s internal and individual experience of gender. It is their sense of being a woman, a man, both, neither, or anywhere along the gender spectrum. A person’s gender identity may be the same as or different from their birth-assigned sex. Gender identity is fundamentally different from a person’s sexual orientation” (Ontario Human Rights Commission, 2014)

“Gender expression is how a person publicly presents their gender. This can include behaviour and outward appearance such as dress, hair, make-up, body language and voice. A person’s chosen name and pronoun are also common ways of expressing gender” (Ontario Human Rights Commission, 2014)
