

50TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE

REIMAGINING LAW AND JUSTICE THROUGH RESTORATIVE APPROACHES

Program

OCTOBER 27-28, 2026 | OTTAWA, ON

50TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Reimagining Law and Justice Through Restorative Approaches

This conference will explore the growing movement of restorative approaches in communities and examine how restorative justice principles can reshape our understanding of law and justice. Moving beyond a solely punitive model, restorative approaches invite a re-examination of how harm is addressed, how accountability is understood, and how relationships are repaired. The conference will consider how these principles can transform legal processes across diverse areas of law—criminal, family, administrative, and community-based contexts—and what their broader implications are for access to justice, legitimacy, and public trust in legal institutions.

Central to this conversation is a transformative shift in the role of legal actors. What is required of lawyers, judges, policymakers, and justice system leaders to support meaningful change? What legal reforms, professional practices, and institutional cultures are needed to embed restorative approaches within the legal system? Through practical sessions, case studies, and applied examples, the conference will examine concrete pathways to justice that integrate restorative values. Participants will engage with real-world experiences, explore tools and models that are already emerging, and reflect on how law can evolve to better respond to harm, strengthen communities, and promote a more humane and responsive justice system.

Lunch & CIAJ Annual General Meeting

1:15–2:15 PM

Case Study | Family Law: Domestic Violence

This case study gives you the opportunity to apply the tools and techniques you learned in Conversation 3. Facilitators will begin by presenting a family law legal problem. They will ask each table to work together to develop an alternative justice approach to resolving the problem. Then, tables will share their approaches in a plenary session. Facilitators will provide commentary on the approaches taken.

Objectives: Learn how to adapt and apply alternative justice processes to a family law matter; Develop tools and techniques to bring into your own practice.

Facilitators:

- Mona O'Brien, Special Projects, Mi'kmaw Legal Support Network (Millbrook, NS)
- The Honourable Pamela S. Williams, retired judge of the Provincial Court of Nova Scotia (NS)

2:15–3:15 PM

Panel 4 | Restorative Approaches to Dispute Resolution

Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) shares many principles with restorative approaches in the legal system by emphasizing dialogue, participation, accountability, and collaborative problem-solving rather than adversarial outcomes. ADR processes, such as mediation and facilitated negotiation, encourage parties to engage directly with one another, address the impact of conflict, and work toward mutually acceptable solutions. Like restorative approaches, ADR seeks to preserve relationships when possible, promote understanding, and provide participants with a more active role in shaping outcomes. By focusing on communication, repair, and practical resolution, ADR can contribute to a more human-centered, accessible, and responsive justice system.

Speakers:

- The Honourable Justice Charles Bienvenu, Superior Court of Quebec (QC)
- Cherolyn Knapp, Conflict Resolution Practitioner, Civil Mediator, Workplace Investigator, and Lawyer, Knapp Resolutions (Victoria, BC)

3:15–3:30 PM

Health Break

3:30–4:15 PM

Panel 5 | Taking a Restorative Approach to Innovation and Systemic Change

As you've heard throughout the conference, a restorative approach requires more than tools and tricks. It challenges us to reorient our perspective to think about the roles and responsibilities of the traditional legal system. But how are these approaches applied outside of the court system? This panel will describe the use of a restorative approach at the institutional or community level and the need for systemic change and compromise in its implementation. Through real-world examples, speakers will guide audience members on a journey toward restorative systemic changes, highlighting the barriers and setbacks encountered along the way.

Speakers:

- Aaron Lyons, Director and Lead Consultant, Just Outcomes (Saltspring Island, BC)
- Florentine Ngarambe, Legal Information Officer, French-speaking Legal Professionals Association of Alberta (Calgary, AB)
- Nadine Wagner, Superintendent, Learning & Sworn Recruitment Division, Calgary Police Service (Calgary, AB)

4:15–4:30 PM

Closing Remarks

Chair:

- The Honourable Justice Peter Willcock, Court of Appeal for British Columbia, CIAJ President (Vancouver, BC)

Planting the Seeds of Justice

Imagine a space where concrete solutions emerge to address the complex challenges of our Canadian justice system. This is what the Canadian Institute for the Administration of Justice (CIAJ) is all about.

Founded in 1974, CIAJ's mission is to promote excellence in justice through knowledge, learning and the exchange of ideas.

CIAJ acts as a conduit for change. As a non-profit and independent organization, we bring together individuals and institutions from diverse expertise—judges, lawyers, academics, policymakers, as well as social workers, law enforcement, and engaged citizens— to improve the administration of justice across Canada. Our multidisciplinary approach enables us to break down silos and mobilize diverse perspectives across a wide range of sectors, tackling fundamental issues in depth. Together, we develop concrete solutions tailored to the real needs of Canadians.

We are much more than event organizers: we are a driving force for change. At CIAJ, we build bridges where none existed before, ensuring that the justice system reflects the complexity, diversity, and aspirations of our society.

Join CIAJ: develop yourself, shape a better world, and make a difference.

By becoming a member of CIAJ, you join a community committed to transforming justice. Together, we have the power to influence policy, improve access to justice and build a more equitable system. Join us today to be part of this essential change.

Conference: AI, Law, and the Future of Justice

CIAJ will hold a national conference on artificial intelligence and justice. This event will build on the reflections of the roundtables held in 2026, enriched by the perspectives of the various stakeholders consulted. It will aim to formulate concrete recommendations to guide the use of AI in the Canadian justice system.

This conference will be a unique opportunity to assess the current state of affairs, share best practices, highlight grey areas and explore future avenues compatible with the fundamental values of the justice system. It may also contribute to the development of a pan-Canadian framework on the ethical, legal and technical issues raised by AI.

This program is bilingual with simultaneous interpretation.

Participation in this conference is approved under Section 41(1) of the Judges Act.
